A Thousand Years – Christina Perri

Heart beats fast
Colours and promises
How to be brave?
How can I love when I'm afraid to fall?
But watching you stand alone,
All of my doubt suddenly goes away somehow.

One step closer

[Chorus:]

I have died everyday waiting for you
Darling, don't be afraid I have loved you
For a thousand years
I'll love you for a thousand more

Time stands still
Beauty in all she is
I will be brave
I will not let anything take away
What's standing in front of me
Every breath
Every hour has come to this

One step closer

[Chorus:]

I have died everyday waiting for you
Darling, don't be afraid I have loved you
For a thousand years
I'll love you for a thousand more

And all along I believed I would find you
Time has brought your heart to me
I have loved you for a thousand years
I'll love you for a thousand more

This song was written by Christina Perri to feature in the first part of the final Twilight Saga film – Breaking Dawn Part One.

Therefore, the lyrics are meant to represent the relationship between the two protagonists, Edward Cullen and Bella Swan. As Edward is a Vampire, the most obvious analysis would be that Edward has waited for 'a thousand years' to find Bella and to truly fall in love, as by being a vampire, he never ages and is therefore over one hundred years old. This age gap has been exaggerated to form the title of this song 'a thousand years'. Additionally, it seems as the protagonists have a very unique relationship and are able to experience love in its truest form, therefore even though it may seem as if they have waited their whole lives to be together, they are aware that it was well worth the wait: "I have loved you for a thousand years, I'll love you for a thousand more".

However as a writer and musician, Perri did not want to narrow her target audience just to those who are fans of the Twilight Saga. The lyrics portray a deep love between two people
